To save funds

Stewart amends budget spending

An amended spending plan for Romulus' last six months of fiscal 1975-76 has been presented to the Romulus City Council.

Mayor James C. Stewart has presented the council with his amended budget which shows a "bottom line" reduction of $83,578 from the budget he inherited from Mayor Terry L. Troutt.

In his amended budget, Stewart proposed total expenditures of $4,451,331 as compared to proposed expenditures of $4,534,909 in the Troutt budget prepared six months prior to the amendment.

Some major reductions were proposed in the area of the community assistance program where a secretary earning $10,750 was eliminated from the budget, and in the Department of Responsive Government, where the director and assistant director's positions were eliminated with a savings of more than $30,000.

In his message to the council, Stewart said the city is saddled with some unanticipated costs, including $50,000 for the urban renewal program which the community had been informed could be delayed, $26,000 for unemployment compensation for employees released by Stewart since he took office, and an undetermined amount of money for an increase in the Wayne County Sheriff's contract with the city.

Under a new state law, employees released from service with a city are eligible to claim unemployment compensation, and the city is required to pay into the state unemployment compensation fund to cover the costs of the benefits.

Despite the "bottom line" reduction of $83,578, Stewart estimates he has saved the city more money.

"I'd say the total savings is in the area of $200,000 by removing the deadwood from the City Hall,"

Stewart said. "Where the money doesn't show is in the unbudgeted expenses which I came across during my budget review."

"Paying these bills will require the spending of some of those savings."

Despite the re-arrangement of the budget in his proposal, Stewart said it does not represent his plan for city development and growth.

"I have many items in the budget which cannot be changed in the middle of the fiscal year," the mayor added. "But come next fiscal year, I'll have control over all funds, will be able to order priorities as I see them."

1976: District to face problems of last year

By JIM CARAVALLAN
Of The Roman Staff

Most of the news in the Romulus Community School District during the past year will continue making news in the district this year.

Contract talks, money problems and new construction are expected to continue into the Bicentennial year.

Highlighting the news during 1975 was the Romulus Education Association teacher negotiations, with a contract which expired Aug. 31, but was continued into 1976 to allow time for third-party mediation of the dispute.

The teachers agreed to go back to work early in September after last minute marathon bargaining did little more than prove just how far apart the two sides remained after the beginning of discussion in the summer.

Direct state aid payments... were cut...

Teachers accused the Romulus Board of Education negotiators with some trickery when they were told a "substantial change" in the board's stand would come if the teachers returned to work under the old contract. They learned that the board wanted to re-arrange money figures within the economic package the teachers had turned down.

The teachers took a strike vote and could have walked off the job any day when both sides agreed to go to non-binding fact mediation and then to non-binding fact finding.

The disputing parties are in the fact finding process, and are at odds over what they will do if the procedure does not produce grounds for settlement.

Teacher union spokesmen indicated they were agreeable to binding arbitration in the matter, however spokesmen for the board indicated they did not like any third-party binding the board to an agreement.

Clouding any settlement were direct and indirect state aid cuts to the schools budgets which dictated a cut in all but essential services and purchases before considering personnel cuts.

Direct state aid payments to the district were cut in excess of $180,000 in two steps during the year, and the district fears yet another direct cut.

At the same time, state aid payments to the Wayne County Intermediate School District, which in turn were sent to individual school districts to finance special education programs, were cut.

Administrators still are wrestling with a means to make cuts to compensate for the loss while anticipating yet another state aid cut because of the sagging state economy.

While the district was wrestling with the contract talks and the aid cutbacks, the union representing teaching aides announced it was opening contract talks, but indicated it would wait to discuss a contract until after the teacher contract is settled.

While money and contract problems haunted school officials, new construction also boomed in the district, with one new school opened during the past year and two more scheduled for opening this fall.

Opened was the Wick Road Elementary School, near Wick and Ozga roads.

Two more schools, the new South Junior High School, near the Wick Road school and a new elementary school near the city's Meadows Subdivision, are expected to be completed and opened this year.

The three schools were built with the funds from a multi-million dollar bond issue approved by the voters three years ago.

The money problems, coupled with extra costs brought on by opening 40 new elementary and another 40 junior high school classrooms during 1975-76 bring an omen to district residents that taxes will rise.

Romulus School Supt. James Garfield said as much during an interview just before the end of 1975 when he said the district "may have to look toward millage" to finance the openings of the new schools, and the new hirings they will require and to compensate for what is expected to be long-term state aid cuts.

Canejo finds reaction isn't 'overwhelming'

The mayor-pro-tem of Romulus hasn't been overwhelmed with the public's concern for continuing a fight against expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Gervazio (Jerry) Canejo said he has received only three phone calls from interested citizens after announcing three weeks ago he was "on the fence," but leaning toward turning down an appropriation to continue a fight with the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) over the construction of a $33 million instrumented runway.

"Right now I have no intention of announcing what I intend to do on the question," Canejo said. "But there weren't too many people who appeared to be interested in the thing by the number of calls I received."

Canejo had put out a request through The Romulus Roman to have interested citizens, and members of other communities who may suffer with increased airport activity on the new runway, to call the office of Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart as a means of showing their concern for the runway.

At a recent meeting of the Romulus City Council, a spokesman for an informal group of Romulus residents urged the City Council to drop consideration of continuing the battle.

At issue is an appeal of U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia J. Kennedy's decision to allow construction of the 12,000-foot runway running roughly from the Middle Belt - Goddard corner of the airport to a point on Eureka midway between Middle Belt and Wayne roads.

Judge Kennedy had ruled on the eve of the Romulus election last November that the WCRC had the right to continue construction of the runway with the use of some $15 million in federal funds because the county transportation agency had met all requirements of a federal environmental protection act by preparing an amendment to an earlier impact assessment statement filed on the construction.

Under the terms of the act, the WCRC and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), which is co-sponsors of the runway project, were required to project possible damage to the environment of Romulus and surrounding communities which could be caused by the construction of the runway.

Attorney Jerrold Fadern, who had argued the original case before Judge Kennedy, has urged the City Council to continue the fight through an appeal to the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Canejo had expressed concern, prior to the meeting with Fadern, that communities who also may suffer with the construction of the runway, such as Taylor and Huron Township, would not join in the suit.

A contingent of Romulus citizens lead by former area resident Fouad Berry had urged continuation of the suit against airport expansion.

Berry said although he no longer lives in the pathway of the runway, he believes the fight should be continued.

Likewise, he is urging citizens of the community to consider joining a separate suit against the airport to claim damages to property surrounding the transportation center.

Members of the City Council, who have argued against continuing the expansion suit, are urging citizens to back the damage suit.

"The city could not spend money to secure an attorney for the individual residents' damage suit."

Stewart: Suit over airport wastes funds

The mayor of Romulus believes it will be a waste of tax funds to continue the fight over extending a runway at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

"It's a case of one taxing agency fighting another with the same people's money," James C. Stewart said. "If the city and the schools agree to enter into an appeal of the decision allowing the runway construction to proceed, it would be city and school money fighting county, state and federal money in the courts."

"And the county, state and federal money all comes from the same taxpayers who pay city and school taxes."

Stewart added that his philosophy is to get along as best possible with the airport.

"It's not going away, so we should learn to live with it," the mayor said. "I don't believe construction of the new runway will be a damage to the community."

"I've lived at the end of the existing runway for 20 years, and the overflights don't bother me."

"It may be a problem to some people's emotional or mental well-being, but the runway doesn't hurt the community."

"If individuals have emotional or mental problems because of the runway, it's up to them to take care of those problems, and sue."

Despite his feelings on pressing the suit, the mayor said he was undecided whether he'd use his veto power to turn down a council decision to continue an appeal.

"All I know is since The Romulus Roman suggested people call the mayor's office with their opinion on the suit, only three have called, and all were against continuing the suit as too costly," Stewart continued. "That doesn't seem to be great public support for the suit."

The mayor said he would encourage citizens of the community to pursue a class-action to recover damages from the problems caused by the airport, "but that would not be with taxpayers' money."

"The city can only discuss obtaining some sort of settlement from the Wayne County Road Commission for the loss of taxing power and utilities through runway expansion," Stewart said. "It can't put money into a suit asking for damages for individual citizens."

A decision will have to be made on filing an appeal on U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia J. Kennedy's ruling to allow runway construction to continue within the month, according to Romulus City Council President Gervazio (Jerry) Canejo.

Cost of the appeal, in the estimate of attorney Jerrold Fadern who handled the original case before Judge Kennedy, would be between $10,000 and $13,000, depending on the cost of briefs and transcripts from the case.

Of mill transfer

Stewart readies for tax loss

Looking toward July at Christmastime isn't common.

But Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart is forced to do just that in an effort to plan against what he thinks could be a disastrous cut in city income next summer.

That's when the 4-mill tax levy which had been included in the city's general fund taxing power will have to be removed and placed back where it came from — paying the city's sewer bond retirement debt.

"I questioned the practice of transferring the millage from one fund to another at the time," Stewart said. "But I was outvoted on the council when the last administration proposed it during the past two years."

"Now I'll have to figure out what will happen when the four mills has to be transferred back."

Under the Terry L. Troutt administration, taxes remained at the same 12-mill level they had been at since Romulus was incorporated, but a portion of that millage — the sewer debt retirement was placed in the city's general fund.

The transfer could be made since the tax levy did not exceed the city's allowable operating fund millage levy limit. But Stewart called the practice "questionable" because it depleted the city's surplus in the sewer debt retirement fund.

"During the past years after the sewer millage was approved by the voters, it had been the attitude of the legislative body in the city that the surplus be accumulated to insure that the bonds for water and sewer construction could be paid early," Stewart said. "But those surplus funds were spent to cover the debt during the past two years, and now that they have run out, the millage will have to be reinstated to make up the payments."

Summary - Water Rate Review

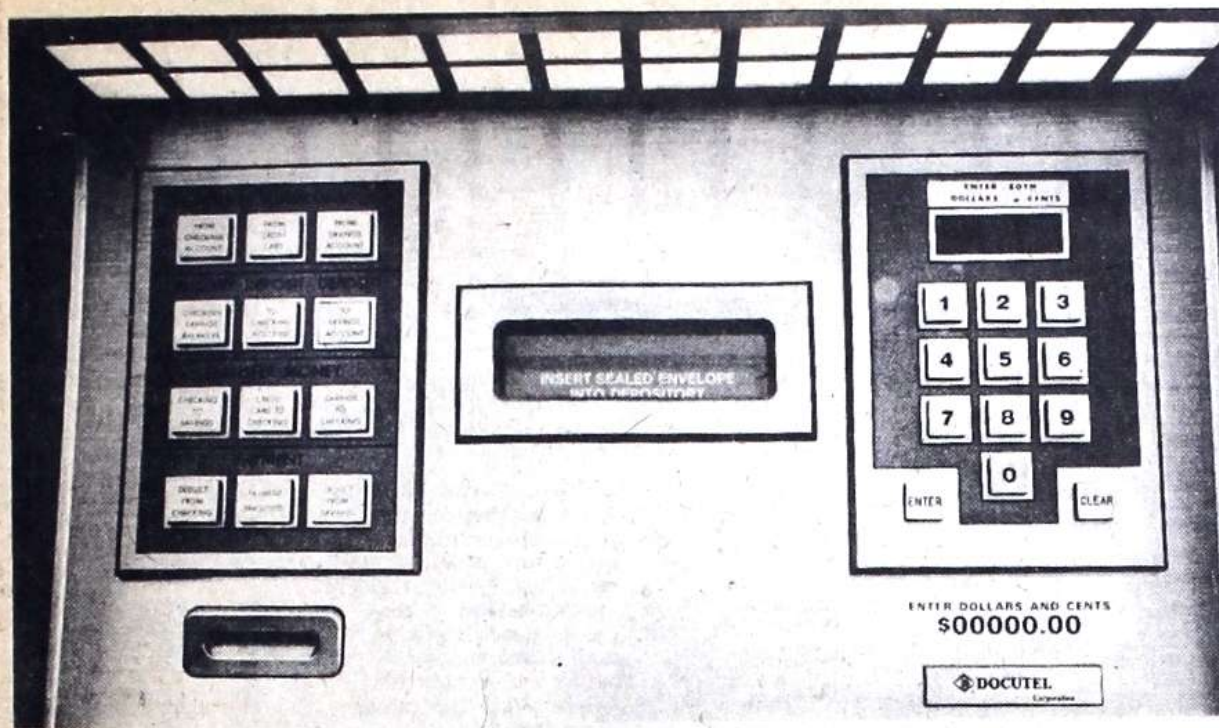

The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (DWSD) practices a policy of setting rates at such levels that frequent adjustments are not required. This policy, however, is based on the fact that lower unit costs associated with the growth of the Regional Water System have been able to offset the effects of a modest rate of inflation.

Unfortunately, the unprecedented rate of inflation which has occurred since the last rate adjustment (November, 1972) has far outdistanced the provisions for growth and inflation.

Since 1972 the cost of electric power has increased 159 percent, wages have gone up 39 percent and chemicals used in water purification such as alum chloride have increased in cost by 38 percent and 82 percent respectively. The inflationary spiral is reflected in continuing increased operating expenses and can be seen by comparing past and projected expenses. Between the fiscal years ending June 30, 1972 and June 30, 1976 it is estimated that operating expenses will increase from $22.7 million to $35.7 million, an increase of 57 percent. Estimates show that operating expenses for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1981 will be $53.6 million, an increase of 136 percent over the June 30, 1972 figure. Although the rampant inflation we have witnessed during the past several years may ease up a bit, provisions in the rate must still consider this factor.

DWSD plans to invest over $130.9 million over the next five and one-half years towards capital improvements. Of this amount approximately $36.7 million will go towards construction of Metro area transmission and re-pumping facilities. About $10 million will be used towards increasing the output of the newly constructed and recently operational Lake Huron Water Treatment facility. This will double the output of that plant from 200 million gallons per day to 400 million gallons per day. Another $25.6 million will be used to improve, renovate and replace obsolete distribution, transmission and water treatment facilities in the existing system. City of Detroit retail customers will be provided with outside reading devices which will improve the overall efficiency of the billing system. The estimated cost of $13 million will be collected as a separate charge to those users. $2 million will be directed towards the installation of computer systems which will increase the overall efficiency of the Department.

The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department has reviewed its financial position in light of the above and has found that a general rate increase of approximately 39 percent on all bills rendered on or after May 1, 1976 will be required. This increase will insure the continuation of the high water quality standards DWSD's customers have come to expect.

Banking's 'new wave' arrives at Lakewood

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

The "new wave" of banking's future has been installed at the Lakewood Center branch office of the National Bank of Detroit (NBD). A 24-hour Banker, an automatic machine which handles virtually every routine banking transaction, including a print-out of a balance tally in any customer's bank account, has been in operation since the end of the year.

"It provides the improved service we always strive for," said Jerry Krause, branch manager. "The tellers are all enthused with the installation because it offers them a better opportunity to seek a customer's needs."

According to Douglas Jewett, a product development manager in the National Bank of Detroit's marketing section, the $45,000 machine is designed to take the pressure off of customers who may not be able to conduct regular transactions during normal banking hours.

"The machine is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to either take deposits or dispense up to $200 in cash during any one day," Jewett said. "It's well-lighted to insure the safety of the customers and handles a number of transactions which customers use most frequently."

Included in the listing of services are checking and savings account deposits, bill payments for utilities, charge cards and loans, cash withdrawals from checking and banking accounts and cash advances from charge accounts.

"The banker is hooked into a central computer for all NBD branches and can provide up-to-the-minute information on the status of each account," Jewett said. "It insures that all transactions are recorded immediately."

The Lakewood Center machine is the only one of its type for NBD branches in the area.

The next nearest machine is in Ann Arbor.

Customers of the bank who wish to have the convenience of the 24-hour banker need a special identification card which contains listings of accounts and a personalized banking number.

A customer wishing to make a transaction need only punch his personal number into the machine to activate the process.

The only limit on cash withdrawals is in the customer's bank account or checking account balance and a $200 per day limit placed on each customer by the bank.

The $200 total limit is enforced in the NBD system through the computer network.

There is no limit on the amount of deposits.

A special "fail safe" procedure offers customers protection of their accounts.

Banking changes

Banking has changed considerably since it first started thousands of years ago, and the newest innovation — 24-hour banking — has made its appearance at Lakewood Shopping Center in Van Buren Township. Larry Phillips (below) tries his luck operating the computerized system that will accept payment on bills, log deposits and withdrawals and give cash. The system is one of a few in operation in Western Wayne County. — The Enterprise-Roman Photos.

Harris misses limit on campaign filing

Only one candidate in Romulus' Nov. 4 general election has missed the final filing deadline for handing in a tally of his campaign expenses. Charlie Harris, who ran unsuccessfully for a City Council seat in the general election, did not have an expense statement on file Dec. 8 — the final day for filing statements before the Wayne County prosecutor is informed of delinquencies in filing.

Filing before the deadline were Oliver Warren, another council candidate, and Franklin Ayers Jr., a candidate for the city treasurer's post.

Warren showed expenses of $192, including $130 for printing, in his unsuccessful effort.

In addition, he showed donations of $185 to his campaign.

Included in the list of those who donated to the campaign were Walter Ausak — $10, Landon Sowards — $50, Ed Fall — $50, Dolores Ristow — $50, Tom Hall — $20 and Jim LaBerne — $5.

Ayers' $63 in expenses were divided between printing — $40, and campaign signs — $23.

He showed no receipts in the campaign.

Harris will be reminded that he did not file a campaign expense statement by the prosecutor's office. If he again fails to comply with the regulations, he could face legal action.

Conviction for failing to file an expense statement could result in fines.

As they see it

Youngster prays for sick friend

To the editor: We read so much about our bad kids today. Would you print this for a child to see, as we have many good kids too.

I was deathly sick for a few weeks and my neighbor's little girl came over to visit me as usual. When she found out I was sick she looked up at me and said: "Marge, you will feel better tomorrow cause I am gonna pray hard for you."

This child came to see me every day to see how I was feeling.

When she found out I was feeling good she said, "Marge, I am so happy cause God heard and answered my prayers."

This little girl is only seven years old and this is some thing I will never forget.

Marge Laverty of Belleville

P.S. I don't know if I can use the child's name but if I can please print it in the newspaper.

The little girl is Rita Atchley who lives across the street from me on Harris Road.

God bless you, Rita.

Law will take rights

To the editor: The "do-gooders" appear eager to disarm law-abiding citizens. They plan to deprive them of a means of self defense. They want no force used in defending property, homes and families against criminals.

People who want to take guns away from the law-abiding can't tolerate mandatory penalties for the criminal use of a gun in burglaries, robbery, rape and so forth. They want no misfortune to befall the criminals.

Now a "Prowler Bill" has been introduced before Congress. In my opinion it's one of the most freedom taking bills ever presented. The House is expected to take up for its consideration a proposed revision of the Federal Criminal Code which would make it a federal crime for a citizen to shoot a nighttime prowler in his own home.

That piece of legislation should make the criminal element cheer as much as they do when our do-gooders want to disarm the law-abiding public.

The "Prowler Bill" actually is contained in Part 1, Sub Chapter E, Section 542 and 543 of S.1, The Criminal Justice Reform Act of 1975. This bill is part of the insidious overall effort to deprive the American citizen of his Constitutional, God-given right to own firearms.

This bill would make certain that if a citizen actually uses a gun to protect himself and his loved ones, that he goes to jail for doing so. This is worse than "funny." It's absolute and total lunacy.

There is a provision in the proposed Criminal Justice Reform Act of 1975 which states that a citizen in his or her home can be convicted of murdering a criminal unless that person was positive that "deadly force" was reasonably required to protect "himself or his family" from risk of death or serious bodily injury.

Under this bill no person would be legally permitted to use "deadly force" to stop a burglar from stealing personal property such as jewelry, money, television sets, or from damaging the house.

Incredibly, the proposed change states further that the innocent resident can be convicted if he or she had the chance of retreating to another part of the house with complete safety to himself and others before shooting at the criminal who has assaulted the home. Imagine that!

This isn't funny. That type of thinking already is being practiced by some judges who practice leniency towards the criminals.

Disarming the average citizen or prohibiting him from defending himself as the proposed Criminal Justice Reform Act of 1975 would be to the advantage of no one except the criminal.

What deters a criminal is fear of getting caught and punished and fear of being hurt or wounded during the commission of the crime. Criminals must have a strong lobby to keep having legislation introduced that would disarm the victims or make the victims criminally liable if they use a firearm to defend their property and their family.

Imagine a law that says the victim has to retreat and run away while the criminal does his thing.

Readers of this letter, if you value your freedom at all, contact your congressman at the House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 and your senator at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 before it's too late.

In Lansing

Year's lowlights!

By BOB BERG
Panax Lansing Bureau Chief

As years go, 1975 wasn't a very cheerful one in Lansing.

There wasn't enough money to go around and the fight over that dominated much of the year. Mixed in were rancorous debates over such issues as teachers strikes, campaign law changes, workers' compensation and the like.

As always, there were some highlights, and some lowlights, in the year. In hopes at least some of them may not reoccur, they are listed here in appropriate categories:

—"Promise made to be broken" Category: The Legislature passed and the governor signed an income tax increase with the provision most of the increase would be repealed in 1977. As soon as it was signed everyone involved said they didn't mean for the repeal ever to actually happen and the law would be changed as soon as the 1976 election is over.

—"LaDolce Vita, 1975" Category: In the midst of the most serious budget crisis in years the Michigan Senate spent more than $250,000 to remodel offices which had been remodeled two years earlier. The hallways were filled for a while with new furniture, new carpeting and new decorations for upper chamber offices. Meanwhile, a series of cuts were made in the mental health budget.

—"This is harder than I thought" Category: State Rep. Kirby Holmes (R-Utica) decided to prove how easy it was to cheat on welfare by putting himself on the welfare rolls with a phony story. Seventy-five days after he made his first application he finally got a check for $214. He complained that if he really had needed the money, "I'd have four children dead of starvation now."

—"It doesn't pay to be original" Category: House Speaker Bobby Crim thought he would throw an innovative fund raiser by offering a package including tickets to the Ohio State-Michigan State football game. By the time the game, the season opener, came around it was sold out and Crim was being criticized and accused of using muscle on the university to get good seats. The block of seats he got were in the upper portion of the south end zone.

—"Agony ain't all bad" Category: Senate Democratic Leader William Fitzgerald promised newsmen he and other leaders would be "agonizing in the garden" over budget cuts and other weighty matters during the year. Meanwhile, he approved the massive remodeling and a record number of employees for the Senate. When Republican senators proposed a salary and hiring freeze plus a ban on travel as the Senate's part of tightening the state belt, Fitzgerald and his fellow Democrats refused to even consider it.

—"Well, maybe there was a little fat" Category: When Democratic gubernatorial candidate Sander Levin said in 1974 there was enough "fat" in the state budget to absorb a $210 million sales tax cut, the governor and Levin's own Democratic legislators disagreed. After the election they made a $300 million "adjustment" in the budget and for the new year they have cut $450 million out of the initial budget.

—"Pick on someone your own size" Category: The Senate rejected only one gubernatorial appointment all year, that of Thomas Korpi, a former seminarian and top student at Michigan Tech to the MTU board. He had nearly unanimous support from the school and the area with one exception — Sen. Joseph Mack of Ironwood. Korpi had asked some embarrassing questions about a friend of Mack's at the school and if there's one thing senators won't put up with it's embarrassing questions.

—"At least they tried" Category: Members of the Legislature and the governor fought back and forth for months to come up with a bill to change the law governing teachers' strikes. Finally, the Legislature passed a bill the governor had promised to veto, he vetoed it, and things are the same as they were before it all started.

"I know what my constituents want" Category: Upper Peninsula legislators talked for much of the year about a new drive for statehood for the U.P., saying the people wanted it. Then special elections in Marquette and Iron Mountain saw the idea go down a crushing defeat in an advisory vote.

—"Sensitivity to the people" Category: State Sen. Arthur Cartwright (D-Detroit) exemplified the desire for public service which results in many people running for public office when he told an enquiring reporter "The Senate don't have to explain nothin."

The rat race is over--sit down with a good book

By LEESMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Now that the holidays are behind us, the pine needles are plucked from the carpeting and the left-overs are finally gone, there should be time to sit down occasionally with a cup of hot tea, coffee or cocoa and that particular book you've been meaning to read.

First off, if it wasn't in your Christmas stocking or under the tree, then you'd better get over to your local library and see if it's in. If your choice happens to be on the best seller list, expect to have to wait awhile. The librarians will add your name to the waiting list and will call you when it's available.

But until then, take a look at the other material on the shelves. If you were fortunate enough to receive a new and interesting house plant, you'll have to learn about its temperament. Does it like direct or indirect lighting? Does it prefer a dry or humid atmosphere? How much water does it require? When will it need re-potting? All those queries can be found in any book on indoor plants and there are lots of them available since the interest in house greenery has skyrocketed in recent years.

And if your plant is one that would look nice in a hanger, then opt for a book on macrame and make your own creation; choosing your own materials—be it sturdy, casual jute or yarn or a smoother textured twine or cord. Then dress it up with cute and colorful round, oval or square beads and, voila!, you've an expensive looking hanger that will cost you mere pennies compared to a store-bought holder. And you'll have the pleasure of saying, "I made it."

A new small appliance such as a blender, fondue or slow-cooker now part of your kitchen? It probably came with a small cookbook of its own but for additional menus, glance through the culinary area for your particular type of cooking. Those novel recipes will make your dinners or parties different because you won't be using the same ingredients and instructions as every other friend with the same appliance.

Mainly, though, after those many weeks of trudging through the shopping malls with that list in hand; baking up a storm; addressing Christmas cards and writing notes and prettying up the house, you deserve a break.

Settle on something to lose yourself in—a good novel that will take you "away from it all" and into the let's pretend world. Just take the time for a visit to the Fred. C. Fischer Library located at 167 Fourth St., Belleville, and plan to spend a little time browsing before you leave. It's interesting and fun, too!

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

Did you ever hear of Bo Diddley? Before the Elvis Presley era, Bo Diddley was the man with the beat. He and his bass player Jerome made every kid in the world with any feeling for rhythm go out and buy all the Bo Diddley singles. He was an all-time great in the rhythm and blues field, and the Yardbirds, the Stones and the Beatles all realized this and showed his own touch with their music in their early works.

Today's band instruments can be seen in full array at DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus. Full lessons given by professional music teachers on all instruments. Ask about our ladies daytime lessons — while the kids are in school. Rentals available on pianos, organs and all band instruments. Phone us at 941-8484.

When buying popular songs for piano, be sure the sheet music contains more than guitar chords.

It's 1976: Time to ask self if you're a thrifty individual

With one week of the new year already behind us, how are you doing with your traditional resolutions? Didn't make any? Just as well since those pollsters tell us they usually fall by the wayside even before they're introduced to Valentine's Day.

One thing most people DO resolve to do each year, though, is spend less money or find some means to economize. And in this era of ecology, it's only smart to do so.

Are you penny-wise and pound-foolish? Or do you believe in spending extra initially to get better long-run value? Do you keep track of income and outgo as carefully as you think you do? Often, people are surprised to learn their real attitudes toward money!

Test your degree and kind of economy on this 10-question quiz prepared by experts on the subject. The answers may give you not only a better insight into your spending habits but some sound money-saving ideas.

Do you usually wait for end-of-season sales...

1. Do you usually wait for end-of-season sales to buy clothes? Unless you are really an expert and determined shopper, you'll probably do better by paying the regular price. With a larger selection to choose from, and no markdowns to lure you on, you're less inclined to settle for the color, style or size that isn't quite right. You're also not as apt to walk away with a terrific buy in a raincoat — when you really needed a suit. Perhaps you'll wind up buying less but enjoying it more. Which is what thrift is all about, no?
2. Do you always ask the price of services in advance? Naturally you study price tags on merchandise, but are you as careful to ask doctor, lawyer, tinker, tailor or TV repairman "How much?" This simple question can save you untold embarrassment; it can also save money. By demonstrating that you are not careless with your dollars, you sometimes get a lower price. Professional men are usually glad to "clear the air" with a frank discussion of fees. Often their time and special knowledge cost more than the average person would estimate. Some of these men will lower fees for people who can't afford the usual rate, but determine this before, not after, the service is rendered.

3. Ever put off "expensive" home repairs? A casual attitude toward home maintenance can really cost. Not only do little repairs become big ones, but experts have estimated that if you allow your home to deteriorate one thousand dollars worth, you will lose twice that much on its resale price! Often, as in the case of so simple a thing as a kitchen sink, one that is chipped and in need of replacement simply makes the entire room look shabby and brings a lower resale price. Replace it with a new model for extra durability; kitchen sinks that are rugged and long lasting are made of stainless steel.

4. Do you save as much as you can whenever you can or put small amounts in the bank each week? Nine times out of ten, your bank balance will be bigger at year's end if you use the second method. In fact, says the National Consumer Finance Association, many people have trouble accumulating money partly because they think of saving as something to do after bills are paid and perhaps that new coat is bought. The trick is to budget for both savings and expenses and to stick faithfully to your plan to save a certain amount from each paycheck.

5. Know how much money your savings are earning? It isn't enough to know the interest rate. Do you know whether interest is computed once, twice, or four times a year? Whether this interest is paid on the average balance in your account for that period or only on your minimum balance? Find out, for these variations can spell significant differences in the interest you collect. And did you know that at most banks, you can get a higher interest rate simply by guaranteeing that your money will remain in your account for a stated period? Ask about certificates of deposit.

6. Your home needs new furnishings, indoors and out, and you must cut corners somewhere. Do you economize on (a) upholstery (b) carpets and draperies (c) outdoor furniture? Try (b) for thrift. Since you must have chairs and sofas, and they get so much wear and tear, they're a poor choice for economy. You don't have to have carpeting; choose a fine area rug over mediocre carpet any day. Or leave handsome flooring bare — it's very fashionable! Opulent draperies are a luxury; substitute some of those colorful new window shades and blinds. Outdoor furniture is important because it's constantly on view, and because it adds comfort to your leisure hours. Why not spend a bit more and avoid future replacements?

7. Would you walk blocks — or drive miles — to get a better deal in a store? Make sure the trip justifies the extra gasoline or shoe leather, and above all the extra time it will cost. Your time is worth money whether you realize it or not. Could it be more efficiently spent on other things? Sometimes, perhaps more often than you think, it's not worth the trouble to save those extra pennies.

8. Do you buy the same foods, week after week? Then you may be missing some very palatable savings! The more foods you and your family enjoy, the greater your opportunities to take advantage of good seasonal buys and supermarket specials. Educate those taste buds; foreign cookery offers a world of appetizing budget dishes.

9. You don't act like a motorist with money to burn — or do you? Many bad driving and car maintenance habits are both risky and expensive. High speeds and "jackrabbit" starts are hard on the car, wasteful of gasoline. If smoke is coming out of your exhaust, you're squandering oil. Just a little extra water in the battery, and acid vapor may come out and corrode nearby engine parts. Many motorists who should know better put up with the noise and hazard of a defective muffler. Not every automotive supplier has stainless steel mufflers, but buy one if you can.

10. Have you learned to do some "servicing" on your own appliances? Having appliances serviced and repaired can cost a family hundreds of dollars a year. With common sense and a careful reading of instruction booklets, you can do many of the simpler jobs yourself and literally save a small fortune. Can you change the filters on your air conditioner or replace the batteries in your portable radio? An electrical manufacturer has said that if only housewives would learn where the fuses are in their appliances, half the servicemen in America would have time for better things. One job you should never tackle: fixing your own TV set. The set retains a dangerous amount of voltage long after it is turned off, and is definitely not for the amateur do-it-yourselfer!

How you scored on this test of thrift is less important than what you learned from it. If you apply this knowledge, you will probably be thrifter than 90 percent of your fellow citizens. Just ask any retailer, banker or finance counselor.

Real winner

Through the efforts of volunteers at Automobile Club of Michigan who dressed 160 dolls as yuletide presents, Christmas will be a much brighter and happier holiday for metropolitan Detroit underprivileged children. Approximately 77 persons from Auto Club's Administrative and West Dearborn offices took part in the Goodfellows program, including Diane Smith of 5930 Metro, Romulus, of Auto Club's purchasing Department, who was awarded first prize for her doll.

Goodfellows aid some 90 families

The Belleville-Van Buren Goodfellows were able to make Christmas a much happier occasion for some 90 families in the area, thanks to the help of better than 45 volunteer workers and several civic organizations.

Jerry Maton, Goodfellow program chairman, said the workers raised better than $3,300 through their annual newspaper sale early in December and used the funds to help 90 families.

"I personally want to thank all those who were involved," Maton added. "The fund raising was a real success."

Compounding the "value" of the collection was that residents donated the substantial sum during what were economic hard times for most residents.

"It was real gratifying," Maton said.

The chairman added that he wanted to thank the more than 45 persons from both Belleville and Van Buren Township who donated their time Dec. 5 and 6 to sell newspapers.

Organizations and civic groups which worked on the project include the men of VFW Post 4434 and its ladies auxiliary, the Belleville-Van Buren Township Jaycees, Van Buren Fire Department No. 2, the Belleville-Van Buren Democratic Club, the Belleville and Van Buren Police departments and individual employees of both the city and the township.

Top "money maker" for the year was Van Buren Township Trustee Tom Kelly who sold papers at Five Points in downtown Belleville.

She collects scholarship

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Thompson of 305 High St., Belleville, has been awarded a Residential Award for Scholarship at Eastern Michigan University (EMU). Cheryl Thompson is a junior, majoring in history at EMU.

Hall changes its hours

Tuesday evening office hours will be eliminated, and Van Buren Township employees will be given a total of 16 paid holidays during the 1976 calendar in the township.

The Van Buren Township city offices will be closed at 5 p.m. Tuesday nights during the coming year eliminating two hours between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. from the normal weekday work schedule.

In addition, workers will be given 11 full days off for holidays, three election day holidays and four half-day holidays during the coming year.

Included in the normal holiday schedule during 1976 are New Year's Day; Washington's Birthday, Feb. 16; Memorial Day, May 31; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 6; Columbus Day, Oct. 11; Veterans Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving, Nov. 25-26; Christmas, Dec. 25; New Year's, Dec. 31 and a half-day on Good Friday, April 16.

Paid election holidays include May 18, Aug. 3 and Nov. 2.

While township offices will remain open Jan. 2, Dec. 23 and Dec. 30, half the office staff will be given a half-day off with pay on each of those days.

During the regular Christmas and New Year's week, trash will be picked up only four days.

Donations will help Bicentennial park

Belleville-area residents are urged to "be on the lookout" for canisters in the community to collect donations for the city's Bicentennial Park.

The Women's Study Club and the Junior Study Club are sponsoring a fund-raising drive to finance construction of the lakefront park along High Street in Belleville.

Cost of the project, which is to be completed by next summer, is in excess of $5,000.

Canisters will be in the community Jan. 12-17, and residents are urged to donate to the project.

The fund-raiser is being sponsored by the two clubs to avoid putting strain on the city's budget.

Holiday fun

Passing out balloons so the youngsters could break them during a contest was only part of the chores Ron Dick (above, rear) of The Romulus Jaycees undertook as chairman of the group's annual Christmas party for youngsters. While the youngsters were treated to fun and games, a Jolly Old Elf paid the merrymakers a visit to disperse presents and hear whispered orders for Christmas morning. Below, 7-year-old Michelle Barnes put in a request for her missing front teeth during a visit with Santa Claus. The party was held prior to the Christmas holidays.

Belleville awaits unbeaten Salem

SRO is expected for Friday's cage showdown

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Unbeaten Plymouth Salem invades Belleville High Friday night and Coach Tom Niemi and his Tigers are ready.

That's the word from Niemi who hasn't lost to the defending Suburban 8 Conference champs and highly-touted Salem quintet on the home court in the past two years. "They're the title favorites in our league," Niemi said, "and they have one of the outstanding players in the state this season in 6-foot-8 senior Jim Ellinghausen."

both teams and especially for us. It's going to be one heck of a ball game." Ellinghausen, who has been scoring at 33 points per game clip, is the man to stop under the boards. He's all-state material and sought after by most of the blue chip universities across the nation.

Salem also has seasoned players in Brian Wolcott (5-11), Mike Prineau (6-2), Mike Gothardt (6-1½), and Rick Gladstone (6-2½). Jim's younger brother, Tom, a 6-4 sophomore, is also slated to see a lot of action.

"I feel that our team is ready to play," Niemi added. "We kept busy during the holidays by competing in the Glenn Tournament and also scrimmaged." Belleville won the tournament at Glenn and Salem is coming off of an impressive holiday tournament victory they hosted. Salem defeated Livonia Stevenson 77-171 for the championship.

Sports

who serves as a co-captain, Cornell Grantham, a guard, and Harold Dennis, a backcourt specialist.

Niemi also used Kevin Barnes, a guard, and center Lance MacArthur extensively during the tournament and the two will probably be in the midst of the battle Friday night.

Harry Hidenfelter, Belleville High athletic director, cautioned fans to get their tickets as soon as possible as a standing room only crowd is expected to be on hand to view the showdown.

"Adults may purchase tickets any time during the week," Hidenfelter said. "They may do so by contacting my office."

"We can accommodate about 1,300 fans and I'm certain we'll be sold out before game time, therefore, I can't guarantee there will be tickets at the gate Friday night."

Tickets are priced at $1.50 and 75 cents for adults and students, respectively.

BELETED CHRISTMAS GIFT — A stunning team performance at the recently held John Glenn Holiday Basketball Tournament earned for Belleville cagers and Coach Tom Niemi a beleted Christmas gift - the championship trophy. On hand to make the presentation to Niemi (at right) is Glenn athletic director Don Domke. The Tigers also have a key Suburban 8 Conference game Friday night when they host undefeated and highly-touted Plymouth Salem.

Gals star for Jackson club

Two former Belleville High athletes have helped Jackson Community College develop into one of the top women's volleyball teams in the nation.

The two are Colleen Johnson, a sophomore, and Dominie Wojtowicz, a freshman.

In her second year of varsity competition at Jackson Community College, Colleen was voted "Super-Sub" by her Jet teammates. Dominie was voted "Most Spirit" by the team and received the distinction of second All-Region Tournament team as a freshman on the squad.

JCC hosted and finished runner-up in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association State Tournament.

The Jets qualified for the National Junior College Athletic Association Championship Tournament by winning the Region XII, three-state (Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana) tournament, hosted by Schoolcraft College of Livonia, Michigan. The team traveled to the National Tournament in Baltimore, Maryland and captured fifth place in the nation out of twenty qualifying teams.

The Jets finished the regular season with a 22-4 record.

Both of the gals are one of the first recipients of athletic scholarships for women in the State of Michigan. Their contribution this year has "made the difference between a good and a great team", according to coach Emily Manwaring.

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Johnson, 18810 Savage Road while Dominie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wojtowicz of 2757 Grove Road.

Belleville wrestlers win titles

While Belleville High's Gerald Malecek was disenchanted with his younger wrestlers, Wayne Memorial's head coach Don Haney came up with the superlatives, a rare outburst for the Wayne coach at this point of the season.

"Our seniors are doing the job," said Malecek whose Tigers finished third behind Wayne and Detroit Catholic Central at the fourth annual Wayne Memorial Invitational on Saturday. "I'm not happy with the progress of our underclassmen."

"I feel they can do much better than they have been," Malecek added.

Wayne posted a key victory at its own invitational, beating the likes of Detroit Catholic Central and six others who had gathered to make up the field.

"A lot of hard work, some luck and our depth provided us with this victory," said Haney whose Zebras have won their own invitational now for the four years in its existence.

"We didn't have as many firsts as DCC (4), but our depth made up for the difference," Haney added.

Wayne garnered 128 team points, captured two gold medals — Dan Gamble (114) and Jim Guinn (147) — and picked up five seconds — Andy MacEachern (101), Kevin Tracy (107), Tim Clark (134), Doug Cunningham (157) and Kevin Rize (169) as well as three thirds with Randy Pittman (121), Rick Pittman (140) and Kevin Wilson (heavyweight).

Detroit Catholic Central finished a solid second with 144 points and four individual champs.

Trailing the two leaders were Belleville (79), Ann Arbor Pioneer (67), Ann Arbor Huron (66½), Allen Park (37½), Garden City West (29) and Thurston (17).

Gamble fought off a determined Chuck Schlimmer of Huron to win a 4-2 decision, earning his gold medal. Teammate Guinn stopped Thurston's Mike Roggins in the finals 5-0 for his first place medal.

Medals were awarded to the top four places in each of the 12 weight classes. Trophies went to the invitational champ and the runnerup. Some 1,500 fans viewed the finals held Saturday at Wayne High.

Wayne will resume league competition Thursday night when the defending Great Lakes 8 Conference champs host Wyandotte. The Zebras will be looking for their 36th consecutive dual meet victory.

AUTO FACTS

by Jr. Kosin

Some body shops apply new paint with great skill. This means that it is difficult to tell whether a used car has a repaired body or not. But there is usually a clue or two, even if the car has been entirely repainted. Look for a different color on the inside edges of the door frame, the experts say. Under the hood is another good place to check, and on the fire wall, separating the engine from the passenger compartment. No paint shop can remove and replace all the wires, locks and latches, so they paint lightly, or skip the area entirely! If you have trouble getting parts for your foreign car, visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster. We specialize in parts for all foreign cars including Datsun, Toyota, Fiat, Opel, Volkswagen, and many others. We also have a complete inventory of parts for domestic cars. We carry mufflers, batteries, fan belts, — everything you need to keep your car, domestic or foreign, running at its best. We also have all the tools you need. Ask about our complete machine shop repair service! We are known as the "House of a Million Parts", and are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M. (Saturdays until 5 P.M.). Call us at 563-3894. AUTO FACT: Buying a used car? Look for rust along the lower edges of the body.

Bearance sparks South swimmers

Sparked by Russ Bearance's record-setting performances, Belleville South Junior High School has amassed a perfect 4-0 record in swimming on the season.

Coach John Stosick's tankers trimmed Trenton 43-33 and turned back Taylor Truman 112-44 last week to stay undefeated.

They'll meet Taylor Brake at 5 p.m., Jan. 8 for their first meet of the New Year.

Bearance won two individual events and swam on the winning medley relay against Trenton. He set a record in the 100-yard backstroke when he touched in first with a 1:01.5, eclipsing his own mark of 1:02.9.

Rusty also took a first in the 100-yard individual medley, covering the distance in 1:03.8. He had earlier teamed with the LaRousse brothers — Brian and Larry and Norman MacDermid to win the medley relay in 2:00.0.

South also had individual event winners in Williams Jansen who touched in 27.2 for the 50-yard freestyle and Chris Renton who churned a 30.2 in winning the 50-yard butterfly.

In the Taylor Truman meet, Bearance established a 100-yard butterfly record

Tigers setting pace in listing

Belleville owns the coveted Western Wayne Invitational Swimming & Diving title, emblematic of the finest high school team in the area for the year.

And, if Coach Sam Vicchy's swimmers continue to chart the same course, it'll be difficult for any other team in the area to snatch the title away from the defending champ.

That's the conclusion one gets after looking at the initial area swim listing, compiled by Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski.

Belleville not only holds down seven of the 11 top times but the Tigers have the depth to dominate the listing.

Belleville's Steve Lehman is the man to catch in both the 200-yard freestyle (1:55.6) and the 100-yard butterfly (58.3), while teammate Mark Stoelton has been clocked in 23.2 for the 50-yard freestyle, best in the area.

Belleville's Farley Parson and Ray Paponetti are the top 100-yard breaststroker and diver, respectively, while both Belleville's 200-yard medley relay and 400-yard medley relay teams set the pace in those events.

Livonia Franklin's Steve Christie's name appears on top of two events — the 200-yard individual medley and the 500-yard freestyle. Steve was clocked in at 5:12.4 in the 500, qualifying him for state competition. He has turned in a 2:11.3 for the 200-yard IM.

Cherry Hill is represented atop of the 100-yard freestyle by Randy Wehrmeister (52.4) and the 100-yard backstroke by Scott Lillie (1:02.4).

"Compared to last year at this period," Pawloski said, "the times are very good and impressive. I know they'll improve as the season progresses."

Area coaches are urged to contact Coach Pawloski at home (941-4399) or at the high school (PA2-5900) to get times on the listing.

3 from Belleville on EMU track squad

Three former Belleville High track standouts are listed in Eastern Michigan University's indoor track roster this season.

The three are Gary Reffitt, Gary Van Buhler and Mikeal Yonge. Reffitt, an All-Area performer in cross country, is a 6-3, 150-pound senior, while Van Buhler, a sophomore is 6-0, 150-pounds. Yonge is a freshman who is 5-9 and 138-pounds.

Despite the loss of two brilliant trackmen, 1975 NCAA champions Hesley Crawford, (60 and 100-yard dashes) and Stabley Vinson, (two-time 600-yard titlist) to graduation, Coach Box Parks figures his team has a good chance to win the Conference title this season.

The veteran coach expects the

GARY REFFITT

Hurons to be in the thick of the MAC title race this season thanks to a group of returning seniors which include Dave Smith (Wayne Memorial), Jim Deren (Detroit Cody) and Tom Hollander (Hamden, Conn.) and a host of promising young athletes.

Last year, EMU placed fourth at the NCAA indoor championships and second at the MAC outdoor meet. (The MAC doesn't hold an indoor championship).

The Hurons also captured the Central Collegiate Conference indoor title and were runners-up to Penn State at the outdoor meet.

EMU will open the season Friday at the CYO meet in Washington, D.C. The Hurons will be put on display at home for the first time this season on Jan. 16 when EMU hosts its annual invitational.

RHS mat team bows

John Glenn wrestlers took their frustrations of losing their first dual meet out on Romulus last week as the Westlanders posted an easy 41-10 victory over Coach Vern Logan's Eagles.

Romulus won the first three matches with Dennis Bergmooser (98), George Butler (105) and Lamar Sandusky (112).

Romulus heavyweight Ed Abbott suffered his first setback of the season, falling to Chuck Squires. Squires avenged a Western Wayne setback by pinning the highly-regarded Eagle athlete.

At Cobo Hall

Old, new cars top show

The 1976 Detroit Auto Show at Cobo Hall this year will feature participation by the Michigan State Lottery Commission, a display of unique cars direct from Harrah's Automobile Collection in Reno, Nev., and, in honor of the Bicentennial celebration, the unveiling of a major work of art depicting the history of the American automobile industry by artist Robert Thom.

Cars from the Harrah Collection, the historical painting and the display under one roof of more than 250 new domestic and imported '76 models support the theme of the show, which the Detroit Auto Dealers Association (DADA), sponsor of the event, is calling "The Great Cars ... Today's Hits, Yesterday's Dreams." It will be at Cobo Hall Saturday through Jan. 18.

According to Jerry Bielfield and Hugh McVeigh, Detroit auto dealers and co-chairmen of the 1976 Auto Show, the cars from the Harrah Collection will be displayed in a special theme center area.

On display will be the first Bugatti ever built. The 1908 classic will be surrounded by a 1937 Airmobile Sedan, a 1938 Phantom Corsair, and a 1925 Julian Sport Coupe.

Entertainment

Also on display in the theme center for the entire nine days of the show will be a 5 by 12-foot painting depicting the history of the American automobile industry. Currently in process of completion by artist Robert Thom, the painting will be unveiled on Saturday at grand opening ceremonies, scheduled for 12 p.m.

The painting will consist of both American cars and automotive personalities, who, in the judgment of automotive historians, have contributed significantly to the advancement of the automobile industry. Following its exhibition at the show, the painting will be donated by the DADA to the National Automotive History Collection of the Detroit Public Library.

The focal point of the show once again will be the new car displays, featuring more than 250 domestic and imported 1976s, all sporting the auto industry's latest advancements. Halls A, B and C in Cobo Hall will have exhibits filled with those cars.

A portion of Hall C will be set aside for the display of recreational vehicles, manufactured by American Motors, Chevrolet, Dodge and Ford. Many of these vehicles will be open for inspection by outdoor recreation and camping enthusiasts.

For the second consecutive year, the Michigan Lottery will play a very active role in the Auto Show.

On Monday the Lottery Bureau will conduct its $1 million drawing in Hall C. Additionally, there will be a daily drawing from among lottery forms deposited each day by lottery ticket purchasers in special receptacles, located in Auto Show.

With the exception of next Wednesday, each daily winner will receive a new car certificate worth $5,000 from the Lottery Bureau, which can only be used toward the purchase of a new domestic automobile of whatever make the winner selects.

Next Wednesday the winner of that day's drawing will be able to select his choice from among the domestic cars on display at the show. The show management will contribute up to $10,000 toward the price of whatever model the winner chooses. The winner will receive a duplicate of the car selected.

In addition to these prizes, 10 free annual Michigan Lottery subscription books will be awarded to lucky ticket holder each night of the show.

Auctions for five new 1976 automobiles will be held Tuesday through Jan. 17. The auction lineup includes a Chevrolet Chevette, Plymouth Volare, Mustang II Stallion, American Motors' Pacer and a Triumph TR-7.

Show hours are 12 to 11 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 10 p.m., Monday through next Thursday, 2 to 11 p.m. Jan. 16; 12 to 12 p.m. Jan. 17 and 18.

Films trace America's history

With the start of America's Bicentennial year, the Famous Early Movies Series at Henry Ford Museum inaugurates a year-long film salute to our nation's past. The series, titled "America — Its History and Life on Film," opens Sunday.

On selected Sunday afternoons through November 1976, the series will present 19 films highlighting historical events. The first six, to be shown in January and February, portray America's early years from colonization through John Brown's raid on Harper's Ferry.

The Sunday presentation, "The Howards of Virginia," centers on the marriage of a Virginia backwoodsman (Cary Grant) and the daughter of Tidewater aristocrats (Martha Scott). When the colonies rebel against England, the two are torn by divergent bonds in this 1940 re-creation of life before and during the Revolution.

A silent film comes to the museum screen on Jan. 18. "America," made in 1924, nearly covers the entire scope of the American Revolution from Paul Revere's ride through the battles of Lexington and Concord — and beyond. Lionel Barrymore and Carol Dempster star.

Lewis and Clark's wilderness trek across North America is the subject of "Far Horizons," the Feb. 1 presentation. Fred MacMurray and Charlton Heston portray the two explorers in this 1955 production which also stars Donna Reed as their Indian guide.

Yul Brynner, Charlton Heston and Clair Bloom highlight the cast in "The Buccaneer" on Feb. 8. Focusing on the Battle of New Orleans in the War of 1812, this 1958 epic dramatizes how much Gen. Andrew Jackson relied on the help of the pirate Jean Lafitte.

Winding up the winter program on Feb. 15 is "Seven Angry Men." In this 1955 film starring Raymond Massey, the saga of John Brown's insurrectionist uprising at Harper's Ferry, Va., unfolds for movie viewers.

The Bicentennial series resumes again on April 4 with the discovery of gold in California and continues through the winning of the West. Following a summer hiatus, "America — Its History and Life on Film," re-opens in September at about the turn of the century. Subsequent films tackle the Roaring '20s, the Depression years and World War II.

Famous Early Movies are presented in the Henry Ford Museum Theater at 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday with the exception of "America" on January 18. Because of its length, it will be shown at 2 p.m. only.

Ceccato directs DSO in concert

Detroit Symphony Orchestra Music Director Aldo Ceccato returns from Europe this week to lead the musicians in its first concerts of the New Year tomorrow and Saturday at Ford Auditorium. Soloists for the concerts will be Greek pianist Gina Bachauer, making her ninth appearance with the DSO since 1954.

The concerts tomorrow and Saturday will begin at 8:30 p.m.; Friday's concert, a coffee concert, will begin at 10:45 a.m., to be preceded by a short fashion show of sportswear at 10:15 a.m.

The program for the concerts, which will be repeated at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 11 consists of two works by Beethoven — the Third Piano Concerto and the Third Symphony, "Eroica."

Ceccato last conducted the DSO in September and since then has traveled to Hamburg, where he is Music Director of the Hamburg Philharmonic, to conduct a new production of Mozart's "Così fan tutte." He is scheduled to conduct all DSO subscription concerts in January, and again from mid-March through April.

Miss Bachauer last appeared with the DSO, under Aldo Ceccato, in the spring of 1974. Born in Athens, Miss Bachauer studied with Cortot and Rachmaninoff and made her New York debut in 1950.

Beethoven's Third Piano Concerto (1800) and Third Symphony (1804) both date from his "middle period," just when he became aware of his growing deafness. Both represent important new directions in musical form, length, and sonority and are hailed as landmarks of the symphonic repertory.

Tickets for all three Ford Auditorium concerts are available at the Ford Auditorium Box Office. Call 961-0700 for information. A limited number of tickets for students and senior citizens are available at the Box Office from 8 p.m. Thursday and Saturday nights.

Dial down.

It adds up.

Consistently dialing down your furnace thermostat can save you money. How much can you expect to save? Let's look at a few facts.

Dial down permanently.

You'll save about 3% on your annual heating costs for every degree you permanently dial down during the heating season. For example, set your thermostat back three degrees, leave it there, and you'll save about 10%. Dial down five degrees, and you'll save 17%.

Dial down nightly.

If you regularly set your thermostat back each night, you can save more than 1% for every degree dialed down for an eight-hour period. For example, set your thermostat back seven degrees, and you'll save about 9%. Dial down 10 degrees and save about 12%. This is in addition to the savings you'll get when dialing down permanently.

Dial down when you're away.

You can save even more money and Gas by dialing down when you're away from home. Because any time you dial down for more than five hours, you save. So, dial down before you leave for work. Or, dial down to 55 degrees when you're leaving for a long weekend or going away on vacation.

Just how much you'll save depends on several factors. How many degrees you dial down. How long you maintain the lower temperature setting. And the weather. The colder the weather, the greater the savings.

Our Gas is still your lowest cost fuel. Use it efficiently and you'll save even more. So dial down. It adds up.
